Join our faculty in shaping an equitable, just and healthy future for all.
We are committed to promoting wellness and health equity for children, women, and families across the lifespan, and excited about the opportunity to elevate our collective scholarly and practice expertise to support our school's endeavors to achieving health equity. We seek to fill the following faculty positions with strong interest in individuals driven to contribute to this mission through a variety specializations and approaches.

- 3 Assistant Professor (Tenure-Track)
- 2 Assistant Teaching Professor (Family Nurse Practitioner emphasis and Population Health and Systems Leadership emphasis)
- 1 Associate Teaching Professor (Midwifery emphasis)

The University of Washington School of Nursing endorses the Future of Nursing 2020-2030: Charting a Path to Achieve Health Equity report's recognition that Nursing has a major role in aligning public health, health care, social services, and public policies to eliminate health disparities and achieve health equity. The report also notes that nurses must incorporate a health equity lens learned in academic education and points out that the decade ahead demands a more diverse nursing workforce prepared to address systemic inequities that fuel health inequalities.

Applicants must provide a formal letter of interest indicating teaching and research interests, noting how their training, preparation, and experience support the school’s and department’s missions as well as expressed, demonstrated commitment to antiracism, diversity, equity, and inclusion. First consideration will be given to materials received by December 1, 2021.

The University of Washington is an affirmative action and equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, marital status, pregnancy, genetic information, gender identity or expression, age, disability, or protected veteran status.

The University of Washington is committed to building diversity among its faculty, librarian, staff, and student communities, and articulates that commitment in the UW Diversity Blueprint. Additionally, the University’s Faculty Code recognizes faculty efforts in research, teaching and/or service that address diversity and equal opportunity as important contributions to a faculty member’s academic profile and responsibilities (www.washington.edu/admin/rules/policies/FCG/FCCH24.html#2432/).

For more information about these open faculty positions, please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Mayumi Willgerodt at mayumiw@uw.edu.

Assistant Professor Tenure Track Apply: apply.interfolio.com/93733
Assistant Teaching Professor PHSLP Apply: apply.interfolio.com/94673
Assistant Teaching Professor FNP Apply: apply.interfolio.com/94687
Associate Teaching Professor Midwifery Apply: apply.interfolio.com/94690

Seattle is a culturally diverse urban center with growing racial, ethnic, and immigrant communities. With the region’s Cascade Mountains, Puget Sound beaches and busy waterways, Seattle offers an unmatched wealth of al fresco activities in and near the city.